

Up and blogging

Welcome to the new Café Valentino's website! With the our new restaurant location now busily up and running, we decided it was time to freshen things up online as well.

We hope you enjoy the brand new look – we think it's a great fit with and showcase for our new location in St Asaph Street, smack in the middle of what's fast becoming a hot Christchurch dining and nightlife precinct.

If you haven't come in to the new restaurant for a look yet, stop by and enjoy a pizza from our authentic wood-fired pizza oven – fuelled by Manuka wood, it pops out pizzas with a lovely crisp base and a hint of woodsmoke flavour. Or if you're just in the mood for a drink, stretch the legs out under our flash New York-style bar and enjoy something from our wide beer range – perhaps a frosty Peroni from the tap.

If you'd like to get a bit more of a feel for our new digs, take a minute to watch the video we've had made to help bring everybody up to speed – as well as to highlight just some of the great food we have on offer! If you're not sure where to start with all the temptations of offer from our extensive menu and beverage selection, Anita makes some great recommendations!
